EROUND-UP Orient Stable Star Is Easily

allis very day the annual powwows of the baseball world begin, and the voice of the magnate is loud in the land. The International League comes to bat first, with the National League stepping to plate to-merrow, and the American League still warming up for its day session. On Thursday will come the famous joint meeting the misguided head of the junior circuit threatened to ruin last the insequence of the meeting to Chicago and leaving nothing is the "joint" here.

The threatened hostilities between the supreme authority as vested Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis and the recalcitrant league der were adjourned sine die when American League club owners inpassed their president that a little more sense and less sensibility on his art would be greatly appreciated by them. If he did not see the light of men he at least felt the force of their argument. The one useful reat of the squabble was to demonstrate that Commissioner Landis really des the roost, and the baseball public will take that as another pledge at the national game is ever progressing toward a wider horizon.

The league meetings in themselves are usually as dull as ditch water at as dry as three chapters of "The Congressional Record" unless some as dry as the unless some eduled or impromptu scrap enlivens the proceedings. The real interest hes in the gathering of the clans, the meetings of the managers, the busisess of trade and barter in diamond livestock, the reunions of oldtime stars and the general gossip over the past, the present and the future of the grand old game. The Giants seem to be satisfied with their present array of talent, but John McGraw is siways ready to pull a startling deal, while the Yanka gave notice that they were going into the auction mart with malice aforethought and a wat of dough. The Twin Colonels insist on their right to and pay, and pay, let Chambers of Commerce howl how they will. New York may get some thrills this week.

Mrs. Mallory's Dauntless Determination

NO MATTER what may be the result of her quest, be it victory or be it defeat, all admirers of the spirit of true sportsmanship and dauntdetermination in the face of previous defeats must pay tribute to In Molle Bjurstedt Mallory, our national woman lawn tennis champion, ets announced her intention last week of making still another attempt to the world's championship at Wimbledon next June.

On such of her previous visits to Wimbledon Mrs. Mallory has addoser to her great ambition. Last year, after working her way the greatest field of women players ever gathered together, she and the final round at Wimbledon, there to be defeated by Mile. is 1921, upon the occasion of Mile. Lenglen's visit to this country, In Mallory conquered the French girl in the national championship and at Forest Hills, yet she will never feel that her self-imposed task s been really accomplished until she wins the world's honors at Wim-

On her coming trip to Euro-e and England Mrs. Mallory is planning more thorough preparation han on any of her previous visits. Leavg this country in February, she will compete in the tournaments along Riviers, in the South of France, in Belgium, Rochampton, Boeckenan and Wimbledon. Whether she will oppose Mile, Lenglen in any of less preliminary tournaments to the world's championship depends agely spon Mile. Suzanne herself. The French girl has always been pleted at Monto Carlo and in the French hard court championship, and is to be toped she will do the same thing this coming spring. In any went Mrs. Mallory will be ready for the great test, and the good wishes all America will be with her in her courageous crusade. Such unfaltering determination deserves nothing less than victory.

N. Y. Athletic Commission Deserves Square Deal

FATTENDANCE figures being recorded at various fight clubs in this cty are worth anything, boxing has never enjoyed the popularity and stantial support of fandom being accorded it to-day. Wherever even Mentaly good cards have been offered the fans have turned out in was, and even the smaller organizations and those with military contions that permit them to operate in armories have been booming along the crest of the wave of popularity.

The scene at Madison Square Garden when Pancho Villa, the Filipino, id Abe Goldstein met in the star bout was one that probably has no edent in local boxing histories, considering the caliber of the card dered More than 14,000 persons jammed their way into the Garden or this show, and it was said that between 5,000 and 10,000 were turned way during wild scenes that ensued at the various entrances to the mphitheater. Several heavy doors were carried away, glass windows ere broken and many of the milling fans had their clothes torn. It is my evident that when promoters offer programs that smack of real an, whether or not titles are involved, the public accords its support

Al Smith, when he becomes Governor of the state on January 1, would to consider the present prosperity of the sport. The Boxing Comhas been criticized and it has made some mistakes, but under its tation boxing has flourished in this state as it never did before. was good idea for the chief executive to let well enough alone.
